Featuring "The Button Lady": Helene Plank

Helene Plank earned her Associates Degree in Visual Arts from Mercer County Community College, and attained her Bachelors Degree in Advertising Design from The College of New Jersey (formerly Trenton State College). Throughout her career, Plank has produced and exhibited her artwork at The College of New Jersey, the Lawrence Branch of the Mercer County Library, Lawrence Art & Frame Gallery, and the New Jersey Button Society, to name a few. Helene's mosaics are influenced by artist Georges Seurat and his technique of optical blending.

Ms. Plank won a Purchase Award and a Juror's Choice Award at Mercer County Artists 2014 Exhibit for her self-portrait. In addition, she received a First Place and Third Place awards from the Lawrence Library's annual "Trashed Art Exhibits," which feature artwork created from recycled materials. Her artwork is a part of the Mercer County Cultural and Heritage Commission permanent art collection, as well as in several private art collections.
